

DEMANDS CESSATION OF SUBSEA WARFARE

WILSON DELIVERS FINAL WARNING TO GERMANY

PRESIDENT'S WORDS LEAVE NO OPPORTUNITY FOR DOUBLE MEANING

Declares Diplomatic Relations Will Be Severed Unless Germany Immediately Abandons Present Methods—Crisis Resolves Itself Into a Waiting Stage—Next Step Depends Solely Upon Germany.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—President Wilson's long expected final warning to Germany that the United States will break off diplomatic relations unless she abandons her present methods of submarine warfare and immediately declares her intention to do so, was delivered today in a note to Berlin and was announced by the president in an address to a joint session of congress. Both the president's address and the American note declared in unequivocal terms that only by Germany acceding to the demand can the breaking off of relations altogether be prevented. The president considers that the next step depends solely upon Germany and that three or four days constitute a reasonable time for a reply. He is willing to discuss how submarine warfare may be conducted within the limits of international law and humanity after Germany abandons her present methods.

Mann Attacks President.
Diplomatic history records but one instance as yet where a breaking of relations between two first class powers has not eventually brought war—that which now exists between Germany and Italy. Congress received the president's declaration of his course with mixed evidences of concern and approbation. Most of the leaders, Democrat and Republican, thought the president hardly could do less and some expressed the opinion that his action would not lead to war. Republican Leader Mann alone of all the opposition leaders openly attacked the president for his stand. He characterized it as a political play.

President Wilson's words leave no opportunity for double meaning. In his address to congress he said: "I have deemed it my duty to say to the imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare * * * the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue; and that unless the imperial German government should now, immediately, declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels this government can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations altogether."

The note to Berlin declares: Has Accepted Explanations.
The government of the United States has been very patient * * * It has accepted the explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped even against hope that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations.

It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation. It now owes it to a just regard for its rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come. It has become painfully evident to it that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable namely, the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue.

U. S. Have No Choice.
Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance, but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations.

Had the recent attack on the channel steamer Sussex, the note tells Germany, been an isolated case, the United States might have hoped that the submarine commander acted in violation of his government's solemn pledges and that the ends of justice might have been satisfied by disavowals, reparation and his proper punishment. But, it adds, this case "unhappily does not stand alone."

The United States the communication declares it considers the torpedoing of the Sussex not only proved by the evidence, but actually substantiated by the German disclaimer of responsibility. Attached to the American note as an appendix are the facts in the case of the Sussex. They show that three American army and navy officers found in the hull of the destroyed ship not only screw bolts which correspond in use and identification marks with those on German torpedoes in possession of the French government at the naval station at Toulon, but that the American officers actually found thirteen pieces of metal (which they have identified as part of German torpedoes. Four of them steel parts of the "war head" of the torpedo still bear the distinctive red paint common to German "war heads."

Proves Ship was Torpedoed.
Besides this evidence the note contends, every circumstance either admitted by Germany in her disclaimer or proved by affidavits of persons on the destroyed liner proves beyond question that she was torpedoed without warning. In short the United States presents the evidence as the capstone to an accumulation of evidence extending over a period of months which is held to prove irrefutably that Germany's assurance to the United States have been wantonly violated repeatedly.

Copies of the American note were sent to representatives here of neutral nations on the assumption that they are as much interested as the United States in the protection of neutral rights. The document was not given to any of the belligerent diplomats as the controversy is regarded as being solely between the United States and Germany.

Count Von Bernstorff already has reiterated to Secretary Lansing that under no circumstances will Germany give up the submarine as a weapon of warfare, because, she contends, it is a retaliation for Great Britain's food blockade. The ambassador has declared, however, that his government will attempt to bring submarine operations within the law of nations. This the United States is willing to discuss, after Germany has abandoned her present methods—not before.

Against that possibility stands the declaration in the American note that the United States has considered from the first that the employment of submarines for destruction of commerce is by its very nature, "utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals and the sacred immunities of non-combatants."

effective secrecy until ten o'clock this morning, when he disclosed them at a conference with Chairman Stone and Senator Lodge, the ranking Republican of the senate foreign relations committee and Chairman Flood and Representative Cooper, the ranking Republican of the foreign affairs committee of the house. When the president had finished reading the note to the conference he looked up and seeing Senator Stone's grave face said: "You look as sad as I feel."

Word of Plan Spreads Quickly.
The word of the president's plan spread quickly thru congress and when he took his place at the clerk's desk in the hall of the house promptly at 1 o'clock, he was confronted by an assembly of gravely quiet senators and representatives who greeted him with applause and later hung intently upon every word he uttered and cheered him heartily when he finished.

The president asked nothing of congress; he came only to inform it of his action. He did it in fifteen minutes and congress went back to work solemnly impressed with the situation which confronts the country. The scene had been dramatically reflected his state of mind, and an impartial observer would readily say the demeanor of congress as a whole reflected its sympathy.

The first actually crucial moment toward which the relations of the United States and Germany had steadily been drifting nearly a year had come and been passed and the president had returned to the white house to await the next one. America counts the hours while Berlin decides.

In commenting on the president's address to congress Senator Kenyon, Republican of Iowa said: "If war comes out of this, I hope the first to enlist will be those who have insisted on riding on armed beligerent ships."

"The severance of diplomatic relations rests with the executive department of the government," said Senator Sherman, Republican of Ill. "It brings us to the brink of war it is for congress to sustain or refuse to sustain the president. I should vote against any declaration of war based on any such reasons as those contained in the president's message."

Text of Note to Germany
The text of the American note to Germany, signed by Secretary Lansing and addressed to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin follows:

You are instructed to deliver to the secretary of foreign affairs a communication reading as follows: "I did not fail to transmit immediately, by telegraph, to my government your excellency's note of the Tenth instant in regard to certain attacks by German submarines and particularly in regard to the disastrous explosion which on March 24, last, wrecked the French steamship Sussex in the English channel."

Instructions from my government to the following reply to your excellency: Information now in the possession of the government of the United States fully establishes the facts in the case of the Sussex and the inference which my government has drawn from that information it regards as confirmed by the circumstances set forth in your excellency's note of the 10th instant. On the 24th of March, 1916, at about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the unarmed steamer Sussex, with 325 or more passengers on board, among whom were a number of American citizens, was torpedoed while crossing from Folkestone to Dieppe. The Sussex had never been armed; was a vessel known to be habitually used only for the conveyance of passengers across the English channel; and was not following the route taken by troop ships or supply ships. About eighty of her passengers, non-combatants of all ages and sexes, including citizens of the United States, were killed or injured.

Encloses Statement of Facts.
A careful, detailed, and scrupulously impartial investigation by naval and military officers of the United States has conclusively established the fact that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning or summons to surrender and that the torpedo by which she was struck was of German manufacture. In the view of the government of the United States these facts from the first made the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a German submarine unavoidable. It now considers that conclusion substantiated by the statements of your excellency's note. A full statement of the facts upon which the government of the United States has based its conclusion is inclosed.

The government of the United States after having given careful consideration to the note of the imperial government of the 10th of April, regrets to state that the imperial government has refused to accept the conclusions of the United States.

GERMANS TAKE QUARRY IN BAYONET ATTACK

ARTILLERY DUELS STILL IN PROGRESS ON RUSSIAN FRONT

Russ attack against Austrian position on the Upper Sereth River in Galicia is repulsed—Italians Capture Monte Fume Pass.

The Germans near Haudremont, northeast of Verdun, in a bayonet attack in which heavy casualties were inflicted on the French, have captured a stone quarry around which they gained a footing Monday. There has been considerable artillery activity west of the Meuse on Hill 304 and the French lines between Dead Man's hill and Cumieres. At Les Eparges the Germans, after three attacks entered French trenches on a front of about 200 yards, but were immediately expelled from them, suffering serious losses.

Artillery duels still are in progress on the Russian front, but there has been no important changes in positions. A Russian attack against Austrian positions on the upper Sereth river in Galicia, was repulsed. The Italians have captured Monte Fume pass from the Austrians and taken the extreme west peak of Monte Ancora where the Austrian trenches were shattered with heavy casualties to their occupants.

Still another defeat of the Turks in the region of Erzerum is recorded by the Russians. Near Aschikala the Russians in a night attack captured strongly organized hills and inflicted severe casualties on the Turks, who left hundreds of dead on the field of battle.

Premier Asquith has postponed until next Tuesday a statement of the British government's attitude with regard to conscription. The premier has told the house of commons that unless the disagreement among the members of the cabinet can be amicably settled there will be a break up of the coalition ministry.

The reply of Great Britain and France to the American government's protest against their interference with maritime commerce has been cabled to Washington. Greece has formally protested against the use by the entente powers of Svala Bay, Island of Crete for a naval base.

As a result of the meeting Mayor Thompson announced that he would go to the state convention at Peoria tomorrow for a fight all along the line.

Editorial Comment On Note to Germany

Chicago Herald: "The United States has been patient about German submarine murder, patient with German evasions, with German duplicity, with German agents, arrogant abuse of American hospitality. It has warned Berlin to desist. Now it threatens. * * * Many will say that the threat does not amount to much. Whatever its force it is all the president can now do. We have heard from the German ambassador that a severance of diplomatic relations means war. That is for Berlin to decide. Germany will have to begin the war, if war there be."

State Journal (Springfield, Ill.): "There are aspects of the sensational action taken at Washington yesterday which will provoke legitimate inquiries from the most patriotic of President Wilson's fellow citizens."

"Assuming he is wholly right in sending an ultimatum to Germany, why was the final note delayed until the eve of another presidential election?"

"And why was it regarded as necessary to stage the sending of the note with the elaborate effect of an extraordinary personally delivered message to congress?"

Daily Pantagraph (Bloomington, Ill.): "President Wilson, in his address before congress, voiced the sentiments of every true American. President Wilson has done everything in his power to maintain strict neutrality."

"The charge that he has favored one side or the other is without foundation and most unjust. Such charges are inspired by cheap politics, wholly out of place in so grave a crisis as this. Even more contemptible is the charge that the president has delivered his ultimatum as a campaign document. The politicians in such case have underestimated American good sense and American patriotism."

Morning Press (Danville, Ill.): "It has been evident for some time that Germany has been conducting her submarine campaign with a contemptuous disregard of the rights of neutrals, international law and humanitarian principles. Her violations of treaties and promises, resulting in the slaughter of non-combatants and neutrals, is a disgrace to civilization."

"Having warned Germany that repetition of lawless acts would result in her being held to strict accountability, President Wilson, after exhausting every means of averting trouble, reached the limit of patience and forbearance and was compelled to take the final step to uphold the dignity of his nation and the principles of justice and humanity. The people of the United States should and will support him to the limit, whatever may befall."

The Cedar Rapids Republican (Cedar Rapids, Iowa): "Most of us believe that the war in Europe is about over, at least we are hoping so and for us to become involved now in that turmoil of blood would be a deep regret, especially since the other nation involved in the war were so uniformly friendly, and so much of whose blood is mingled with our own. Having borne so much, almost in humiliation, having accepted the explanations for the victims of the Lusitania, it seems to many of us to be far fetched now to go to the verge of war, if not war itself over matters that are so incomparably minor."

"Let us hope that there may still be a way out—and there probably is—the president himself being much more mild in performance than he had been in threats, or than was indicated by the extraordinary spectacle of summoning both houses of congress to hear his views."

Quincy Whig (Quincy, Ill.): "To the assertion of the president that the position of our government is based upon 'manifest and imperative principles of humanity' Germany has replied that her submarine campaign is based upon necessity. Her only recourse with England blocking the seas has been submarine warfare. The U-boats are forced to attack quickly and without warning. The president's position which is submitted as the American position, is based upon established rules of war; Germany's position upon a new situation that has developed from the submarine. Under such circumstances it is not surprising that the individual members of congress do not thoroughly acquiesce in the president's position."

GEN. SCOTT GOES TO MEXICAN BORDER

Expect No Decision As To Withdrawal of Troops For Ten Days

WILL MAKE REPORT

Chief of Staff, Accompanied by His Aide, Will Reach Fort Stanton's Headquarters Friday

GAVIRA INSISTS VILLA DEAD

WASHINGTON, April 19.—No decision as to withdrawal of American troops from Mexico is expected for a week or ten days, unless there are new outbreaks against the forces in Mexico to compel immediate action. This was made clear today when Secretary Baker dispatched Major General Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, to the border as his personal representative to make a complete report on the military problems confronting General Funston.

The administration's final action on General Carranza's suggestion that the expedition be recalled probably will be based largely on what is shown in the report. General Scott who left Washington tonight hardly will be able to make the round trip and complete his observations in less than ten days. Secretary Baker described General Scott's mission as being to assemble complete information as to the border situation for the use of the department. He will also establish a personal touch with that situation for the secretary which Mr. Baker has felt need of in advising the administration as to the military aspects of the Mexican question.

General Scott himself explained that he would be "the eyes of the secretary" on the border. Accompanied by his aide, Lieutenant Colonel Robert E. L. Michie of the general staff, he will reach General Funston's headquarters at San Antonio, Texas, next Friday evening.

Confident Report is True.

El Paso, Texas, April 19.—In spite of every denial and doubt and in the face of the statement of Governor Enriquez at Chihuahua that the story of Villa's death was only a rumor, General Gavira and Consul Garcia asserted tonight their confidence in the truth of the finding of the body of the bandit. General Gavira said that he had learned officially today that the failure of Colonel Cavazos, who went to San Borja to exhume Villa's body, to arrive at Chihuahua was due to the fact that he had changed his program and was taking the body to Santa Ysabel. The latter town is thirty five miles north of San Borja, and about an equal distance from Chihuahua, with which it is connected by the Mexico Northwestern railroad.

Both General Gavira and Consul Garcia expressed uneasiness over the continued absence of direct news from Colonel Cavazos, who is not supposed to have had more than a small body of troops with him and it is felt that he may have fallen into a trap laid for him by the Villa bandits.

Interest in Villa's fate or whereabouts has considerably waned here in the face of the crisis between the United States and Germany and its possible effect in causing the withdrawal of the troops from Mexico.

Washington and not Mexico is the real center of interest to the border tonight.

Troops Disperse Crowds.

Torreon, Mex., April 18.—via El Paso Junction, April 19.—Carranza troops were employed today in dispersing crowds that had gathered for an anti American demonstration. Proclamations had been issued in Torreon, Laredo and Gomez Palacio, calling on "all loyal Mexicans" to meet in the theatre at Gomez Palacio to discuss steps to be taken against the American invaders.

British vice Consul O'Hea promptly reported the circumstance to General Trevino who immediately took command of the situation.

The proclamation calling for the meeting ended with the words:

"Viva Mexico and death to the gringos."

General Santos from Parral reports he has dispersed Chacon's bandit band. He said Chacon killed Simon Reyes and Reyes' son in a dispute last Sunday. The Laguna district around San Pedro has been cleared of bandits, General Matias Ramos says.

For President

L. Y. SHERMAN.

For Governor

ANDREW RUSSEL.

There are about 30,000,000 men at work in the United States. If they work eight hours a day it is 240,000,000 hours. Illinois Manufacturers News. The Democratic tariff law put about 5,000,000 out of work before the war, an annual loss in hours per year of 12,480,000,000, or 1,560,000,000 days of eight hours each. And, as Senator Sherman says: "An idle day can never be regained."

The time is past when legal sharp practice accomplishes much and present day juries are not much influenced by attorneys' pleas which depend upon other than every day facts. This was illustrated in a near by city where a woman who had been injured in an automobile collision brought suit for damages. The woman in question is a Christian Scientist and the company sued set up the defense that the plaintiff was not entitled to damages because she is a believer in Christian Science and that pain is unknown to persons of her faith.

"An American company with headquarters in Vancouver, B. C., operates fishing vessels of American, Canadian and British register, and employs about 500 men engaged exclusively in halibut fishing and packing," says Consul General Mansfield, assigned to British Columbia. "Practically all the halibut brought into this port is exported to the United States, most of it fresh, although some of the fish are frozen in bond and forwarded in that state." If the Democratic tariff law had not placed fish on the free list that American company might be operating in the United States, employing American labor, and paying American wages. Under a policy of free trade it is good business to operate on the other side.

Any plan like the "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign for calling the attention of the public at large to the necessity for maintaining a clean city should meet with earnest co-operation.

The problem is one of education, and efforts in this direction, even at intervals, will serve as a stimulus for the development of a sentiment that will in time be continuous and permanent.

PROGRESS

When I was young I had to go and till the cornfield with a hoe. Ah, it was weary work, indeed; I paralyzed the noxious weed, and scraped the dirt around the corn, and yearned to hear the dinner horn. I'd toil all day to beat the band, till blisters came on hoof and hand, and then the husbandman would say, as he dug up my meagre pay, "Was that the best that you could do?" You must have loafed, the whole day thru!"

And now I see the farmers ride on cultivators tall and wide, that hill the corn and slay the weeds, as they are drawn by prancing steeds. A hundred freckled lads with bows might work all day along the rows, and not achieve as much, I ween, as would one green and red machine. The farmers of these modern days know naught of old time toilsome ways; they do their labors sitting down, and ride in choo-choo cars to town; they find the huddle growing rank, and have to stack it in the bank.

from habits of cleanliness, personal, social and municipal.—By John D. Shoop, Superintendent of Schools, Chicago.

The strike among broom makers in the Cincinnati work shop for the blind to secure longer working hours is something unique in labor troubles. The situation will attract not only the attention of organized labor, but will touch the heart of humanity as well. The plea for longer hours is based on the argument of the blind workers that under the eight hour system they are not able to make more than $4.50 a week. Probably it is the scale of wages and not the working hour system that needs revision.

"Ich Dien"

"Ich Dien" is a noble German expression, and the Germans love it and the English adopted it. It means, I serve. I am boss, is United States slang adored by the American and Irish-American. It means lording it over the other fellow. What this land needs is better service and less bossing. The school teacher is boss and every kid under him aspires to be boss later. Our educational, political and industrial systems and machinery must eliminate most of the boss ideas and adopt the German motto "Ich Dien." When we pay out good dollars it is almost invariably for service. To the telephone, railroad, merchant, lawyer or doctor we pay for service. Our legislators and officials we pay for service, yet very few have their motto "Ich Dien." People pay us for service. Do we render the service paid for? Do we furnish the best and cleanest milk possible? Are the eggs we furnish clean and newly laid? Is the fruit in the middle of the package as good as that on the top and bottom? Is that fowl nice and tender or is it as tough as sole leather should be?

I know an old lady above 70 who sells cottage cheese on our market, and while dozens of others sell cottage cheese her vessel is about empty when the others begin to sell. It is all cottage cheese, but her motto is "Ich Dien," and it sells the cheese. Genuine honest service never goes begging. The doctor, the lawyer, the teacher or the farmer who has this article can easily find a buyer at a premium. The young man and young woman who go out into the world with a sincere determination to give faithful service in whatever calling they may engage, will find many more places than they can fill. Co-operation is possible only under the motto "Ich Dien." Very few at best can be boss, but every one who will serve the world along some useful line, "Ich Dien."—L. M. L. in The Farmers' Review, Chicago.

THE U. S.-GERMAN CRISIS.

The public is somewhat inured to crises and diplomatic "notes" bearing on the German submarine question and in consequence feeling is not so tense now as would have been true under like situation a year ago. Right or wrong President Wilson will be accorded the loyal support of the people. Yet if a severance of diplomatic relations does come, followed possibly by war, a great majority of the citizens of the United States will wonder in their hearts wherein it would have indicated weakness if this government had long ago warned Americans that it was their patriotic duty, as such, to refrain from travel on the ships of belligerent nations.

The president's note to Germany is couched in unmistakable language and gives evidence that it is the culmination of long and unsatisfactory discussion. The answer must be unequivocal, for no room is left for evasion or for any extended discussion. It will be unfortunate, indeed, if having bridged over the indignation and sorrow which came when scores of American lives were lost from the sinking of the Lusitania, that happenings of far less moment should carry this country into the maelstrom of war.

If the German reply is unsatisfactory and succeeding events involve the United States in the European conflict, in many quarters the fact will be regarded as auguring the early cessation of hostilities. There are military writers who believe that Germany would not be adverse to the entry of the United States into the war. Their theory is that this action on the part of the United States would furnish the Imperial Government a means of bringing hostilities to an end with dignity. It would be a discredit to German judgment and discretion if that country presumed that victory could be won against such great force and influence as would be represented in the combination of the United States with the European allies. With this view of the situation, a declaration of war would present the paradox of war really speeding peace.

But the theorists may not be right, and while there is no lacking of patriotism in this country and there will be no withholding of support to the president, yet the vast majority of the people will devoutly hope that there will be neither severance of diplomatic relations nor war.

FORUM SOCIETY APPEARS IN CLOSING PROGRAM OF YEAR

High School Auditorium Is Filled to Capacity Wednesday Night for Shakespeare Tercentenary Observance.

A house filled to capacity greeted the members of the Forum Literary society Wednesday night in the last meeting of the year. The program, held at 7:30 o'clock in the high school auditorium, was in celebration of the Shakespeare Tercentenary, and very ably was the memory of the great dramatist made real as scenes from the plays were reproduced. Miss Anna M. English had charge of the program and well did it evidence the careful planning and thoughtful work of the director as well as the spirit and enthusiasm of the pupils.

Miss Esther Davis, president of the society, made a few appropriate remarks on the occasion of the last meeting. The old English dances, under direction of Miss Ahlsie Goodrick, were a pleasing part of the program. Kate Greenaway costumes, with head-dresses in bright colors combined to make the effect quite beautiful.

The program was carried out as announced and from the first there was nothing to mar the evening's success. Much of the program was based upon the regular class work and this fact made the presentation the more interesting.

A talk on the meaning of the celebration began the program and this was followed by music and by Shakespearean quotations, selected from the work of the year in the four English classes. A piano solo followed and the seven ages of man in pantomime proved very attractive. The old English dances came next, followed by an essay on Julius Caesar. Two scenes from the Merchant of Venice concluded the program.

THE PENNIES IN THE BOX.

I'm Uncle Sam's most favored pet,
I'm heavy and I'm hale;
I've nothing in this world to do
But glide 'round with the mail.
But one thing almost breaks my heart.

And my nervous system shocks,
It's the everlasting pennies
That I'm fishing from the box.

I carry stamps and envelopes
And postal cards and such;
And I would like to sell a few—
'Twould please me very much.
But a man can't sell unless you buy,
No matter how he talks;
So I have kept on driving
After the pennies in the box.

It's all right in the springtime
Or when the summer breezes blow,
But a different proposition
When it's 32 below;

When all your fingers and your toes
Are frozen hard as rocks,
It's most anything but funny
Scratching pennies from the box.

And now, quite confidentially,
I'll tell you something more;
A rural carrier (way out west)
Forgot himself and swore;
Says he, "I can stand the snowdrifts,
I can stand the frozen locks,
But blast the measly pennies
In the blasted measly box."

When the roll is called up yonder
And we all shall gather there,
They wouldn't let a mail man in
If they knew he'd learned to swear.
If you want St. Peter to open the gate

When your rural carrier knocks,
Buy stamps and don't be guilty
Of putting pennies in the box.

OBITUARY.

The funeral of Laura Louise Micherson was conducted by Rev. Mr. Scruggs at the family residence, 504 South Clay avenue, yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large circle of sympathetic friends. The address and the music were all in keeping with the sad occasion when a darling child was laid to rest. The bearers were boys, Edward and Wm. Berry, Wm. Mounts and Cicero Martin. The flowers were cared for by Misses Mabel DeFarris, Alberta Roberts, Helen Tinsley and Helen Bryant. Interment was in Jacksonville cemetery. Mrs. Maggie Osborne of Alton attended the funeral.

In Memoriam.

The angel of the Lord came down From the shining realms above, And took up to the blessed land, A tender bud of love.

Mother and sisters all I pray O do not grieve and weep, For in the blessed Master's arms Is your dear one now asleep.

So rest forever little one In the land of endless day, Safe in the arms of Jesus dear, In the country far away.

A mother's love can't guard you now You are an angel bright, Happy up there forever more, Where all is pure and bright.

And now I see the farmers ride on cultivators tall and wide, that hill the corn and slay the weeds, as they are drawn by prancing steeds. A hundred freckled lads with bows might work all day along the rows, and not achieve as much, I ween, as would one green and red machine. The farmers of these modern days know naught of old time toilsome ways; they do their labors sitting down, and ride in choo-choo cars to town; they find the huddle growing rank, and have to stack it in the bank.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON NOTE TO GERMANY

of President Wilson's just demands upon the imperial government. That there is some division of opinion in congress concerning the message is but natural. We cannot all think alike, but the president may rest assured that the people of the United States, while they may differ as to ways and means, are with him in every honorable endeavor to avoid trouble, but, if trouble must come, they are with him still, heart and soul."

State Register (Springfield, Ill.): "President Wilson regrets, all peace loving, true, patriotic Americans regret that an ultimatum to Germany has been necessary. But back of their president stand a united people, a people loyal, true and God fearing, waiting for the answer of the nation across the sea. Rabid politicians will criticize the president. For months these fungi growth upon the national life of America have attempted by word and act to hamper and embarrass the president. Patriotism to this stripe is hollow and meaningless. But, thank God, America is not made up of narrow brained politicians who see no further than a political job."

Decatur Herald (Decatur, Ill.): "Mr. Wilson has arranged his facts cleverly and put his argument forcefully. Ossa has been piled on Pelion. The indictment is one that Germany cannot wriggle out from on any other plea than the time-worn one of 'military necessity' and in that the United States is no longer interested. It has never regarded it as valid."

New York Staats Zeitung:—"It is unthinkable that the German government should recognize those credentials (the president's) as the representative of all neutral nations, and grant the preposterous demands for the inauguration of this submarine warfare—the illegal British blockade and interference with the commercial rights of neutrals—remains in force, and as long as British inhumanity against the civilian non-combatant population of Germany is continued. The president's demands seek to permanently guard British sea trade and would, if complied with, make England proof against injury."

"Can Germany agree to that? The answer remains with the individual. "President Wilson has given the German government the alternative of complying with demands which seem impossible to comply with, or to expect war with the United States for the severance of diplomatic relations under like circumstances can only result in war. The president has brought about a diplomatic situation which must involve the United States in a war with Germany, unless congress intercedes in proper time."

Illinois Staats Zeitung, (Chicago): "We are not aware that Mr. Wilson ever received a mandate to represent humanity; and if he did, he ought to return his retainer for he never represented humanity, but the interests of the ammunition manufacturer in opposition to the real interests of humanity. "Why not rather send a threat to the nation—whose inhuman stoppage of food products of the civil population of Germany caused the submarine war?"

We do not even believe now that the president really wants war and we are sure that the nation does not want it."

New York Tribune: "If there is a definite result at last—whether diplomatic relations are broken off or intercourse is continued on the basis of German disavowal of the policy of murder on the high seas—we shall owe nothing to the long oratory of words which has passed in Washington for the last fourteen months as modern American diplomacy. Our issue with Germany can be settled now—only by a display of determination backed by force. And it should have been settled that way without parley or faltering."

Chicago Tribune:—"Americans cannot read this morning's news in any careless mood and be rational or wise. The president the other day asked if we were ready for the test. This is the test. It may be the test of our composition as a nation, of our courage as individuals, of our spirit and manliness. * * * If the test be faced honestly and bravely it may do good. It may be the test the nation needs to become a real nation, integrated and unified, spiritualized and strengthened, able to meet dangers which we can see the future offering. It may be a good thing for American policy to meet this test while we have the support which allies could offer. We may be able to save another generation from trials which our incompetence and dislike for struggle would have increased for our successors."

GOVERNOR DUNNE SIGNS
PARCENS FOR FOUR MURDERERS

Two Others Are Included in Action Taken on Recommendation of State Board of Pardons.

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—Four murderers were pardoned today by Governor Dunne, acting on recommendations of the state board of pardons.

Thomas Perkins, who has served fifteen years of a life sentence in Joliet for murder, was released so that he might obtain treatment for a malignant cancer. Thomas Moran, Perkins' associate in the robbery which resulted in murder, escaped from the prison some time ago with two other prisoners in the warden's automobile and never has been apprehended.

Arch Smith, sent to Chester from Gallatin in 1909 for the murder of his brother-in-law for fourteen years, has been released.

Gordon Johnson, sent to Chester from Williamson county in 1910 for killing his brother and sentenced to serve fifteen years, was among those who received clemency.

Thomas Bann, serving a sixteen year sentence at Chester for murder growing out of a political argument in Clinton county, was released. He was sentenced in 1909.

Others who were included in the executive action were Allen Scroggins, serving a sixteen year sentence at Chester from Madison county for rape and John McDonald, serving a jail sentence in Christian county for the illegal sale of liquor. Scroggins began his sentence in 1911. McDonald is said to be suffering from rheumatism.

CHICAGO HIGH SCHOOLS ADD NEW COURSE OF STUDY FOR GIRLS

CHICAGO, April 19.—A new course of study for girls is to be added to the curriculum of Chicago High schools, it was announced today. With the co-operation of department stores in the city, a course in salesmanship is to be offered. Under the plan the girls will fit themselves for the work of the department stores which will employ them on Saturdays and other special days during their school years, to give them practical experience. They will be paid a minimum wage of $1 a day during their training period and will then be employed by the stores at an increased wage upon graduation from school.

TO CALL SPECIAL ELECTION

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—Governor Dunne said today he would call a special election for June 5 in Cook county to fill the vacancy on the Superior court bench caused by the resignation of Judge Henry V. Freeman.

WILSON DELIVERS FINAL WARNING TO GERMANY

pression made upon it by the statements and proposals contained in that note is that the imperial government has failed to appreciate the gravity of the situation which has resulted, not alone from the attack on the Sussex, but from the whole method and character of submarine warfare as disclosed by the unrestrained practice of the commanders of German undersea craft during the past twelve months and more in the indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations.

If the sinking of the Sussex had been an isolated case the government of the United States might find it possible to hope that the officer who was responsible for that act had willfully violated his orders or had been criminally negligent in taking none of the precautions they prescribed and that the ends of justice might be satisfied by imposing upon him an adequate punishment, coupled with a formal disavowal of the fact and payment of a suitable indemnity by the imperial government. But the attack upon the Sussex was manifestly indefensible and caused a loss of life so tragical as to make it stand forth as one of the most terrible examples of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels are conducting it, it unhappily does not stand alone.

Only One Instance of Method.

On the contrary, the government of the United States is forced by recent events to conclude that it is only one instance, even the one of the most extreme and most distressing instances, of the deliberate method and spirit of indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

The imperial government will recall that when, in February, 1915, it announced its intention of treating the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and of destroying all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within that zone of danger, and warned all vessels, neutral as well as belligerent, to keep out of the waters thus prescribed, or to enter them at their peril, the government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without constant gross and palpable violations of the accepted law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded on the principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea, could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks; and that no right to close any part of the high seas could lawfully be asserted by the imperial government in the circumstances then existing. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based that protest is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based on the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Persisted in Carrying Out Policy.

The imperial government, notwithstanding, persisted in carrying out the policy announced expressing the hope that the dangers involved at any rate to neutral vessels would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to the commanders of its submarines, and assuring the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

In pursuance of this policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and thus entered upon in spite of the solemn protest of the government of the United States, the commanders of the imperial government's undersea vessels have carried on practices of such ruthless destruction which have made it more and more evident as the months have gone by that the imperial government has found it impracticable to put any such restraints upon them as it had hoped and promised to put. Again and again the imperial government has given its solemn assurances to the government of the United States that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with, and yet it has repeatedly permitted its undersea commanders to disregard those assurances with entire impunity.

As recently as February last it gave notice that it would regard all armed merchantmen owned by its enemies as part of the naval forces of its adversaries and deal with them as with men of war, thus at least by implication, pledging itself to give warning to vessels which were not armed and to accord security of life to their passengers and crews; but even this limitation their submarine commanders have recklessly ignored.

Neutral Vessels Destroyed.

Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers.

Sometimes the merchantmen attacked have been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed, sometimes their passengers and crews have been vouched the poor security of being allowed to take to the ship's boats before the ship was sent to the bottom. But again and again no warning has been given, no escape even to the ship's boats allowed to those on board. Great liners like the Lusitania and Arabic and boats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, often before they have even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed ship of the enemy and the lives of non-combatants, passengers and crew have been destroyed wholesale and in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to their indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters which the imperial government has chosen to designate as lying within the seat of war. The roll of Americans who have lost their lives upon ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous total has mounted into the hundreds.

The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy it has sought to be governed by the more thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of an unprecedented war and to be guided by the sentiments of very genuine friendship for the people and government of Germany. It has accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in sincerity and good faith, and has hoped, even against hope that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the laws of nations. It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation.

It now owes it to a just regard for its own rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come. It has become painfully evident to it, that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce, is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity the longest established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

But One Course U. S. Can Pursue.

If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue, unless the imperial government should not immediately declare and effect abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels, the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations.

EXPECT DECISION ON VALIDITY OF DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATIONS

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—Judge James J. Creighton of the Sangamon county circuit court, where most legislation effecting the state is heard first, is expected to give a decision sometime this week on the validity of deficiency appropriations by the legislature.

John B. Fergus, through his attorney, Fayette S. Munro, sought to enjoin State Treasurer Andrew Russell from honoring warrants drawn by various state department heads against deficiency appropriations made by the last legislature.

The state will file answer tomorrow to Fergus' committee expense bill. Recently Judge Creighton overruled the state's demurrer to this bill. This bill involves charges that the senate journals were falsified at the close of the last regular session of the legislature to make it appear that a resolution had been adopted by the senate providing for Chicago offices or members of the body.

Attorney Munro is taking his private relief bill to the Supreme Court on a writ of error. Judge Creighton held recently that the private relief appropriations made by the last legislature were legal. Munro contended, for Fergus, that the state court of claims should have made these appropriations.

HOLD WAGNER TO GRAND JURY

Rockford, Ill., April 19.—Ross Wagner, held by the police in connection with the death of Miss Lillian Kjellstrom, was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder as the result of the findings of a coroner's jury late today. The jury found that the 18 year old girl came to her death as the result of poison and asserted as their belief that the young sweetheart of the girl probably had knowledge of the girl's taking the drug.

COUNT VON BERNSTORFF SENDS LONG DESPATCH TO BERLIN

Washington, April 19.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, sent to Berlin tonight a long despatch interpreting the situation in Washington and making certain recommendations. He is understood to have advised his government that he believed the United States meant just what it said in its submarine note and that something would have to be done quickly if friendly relations were to continue.

The ambassador himself, having read the address of the president and the note, said: "I can make no comment upon the address or upon the communication which has been sent to my government."

However, he was authoritatively described as having advised the Berlin foreign office in the message sent tonight that he believed some such declaration as that made regarding the conduct of submarine warfare in the Mediterranean sea should be issued immediately to cover all submarine operations.

It is expected that Count von Bernstorff will confer with Secretary Lansing tomorrow. The secretary informed him today that he was ready to discuss the matter at his convenience.

Persons in close touch with affairs of the embassy, quoted the ambassador as saying:

"I believe that some way will be found satisfactorily to meet the position of the United States."

STORM DOES MINOR DAMAGE.

Decatur, Ill., April 19.—A sow and eleven pigs were left unharmed on the Ora Warner farm just south of Decatur today when a heavy windstorm demolished the shed in which they were sheltered. The storm lasted only a few minutes but a number of uprooted trees and other minor damage was reported.

Telephone lines were put out of commission and interurban cars greatly delayed. The storm struck the city at 4:45 p. m.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Regarding The Journal

By Ensley Moore.

Member Illinois State Historical Society.

The "Old Jacksonville" artist gets letters of information, of encouragement, and of intended correction some times.

While not in this series of old time "stories," one of the time when Van Buren was here is in point.

Major Wm. P. Callon, met the writer one day and said, substantially:

"You are surely wrong about the time when Mr. Van Buren was here. I was a little child and my father carried me in his arms to see Van Buren. You must be wrong, as these dates conflict."

The reply was: "Well, Major, I got the details from the 'State Journal' and 'State Register' published at the time, so it must be you that is wrong."

So, about Messrs. Gregory and Upham being at Col. Hardin's funeral. Both of them stated, before the statement was made in print, that they were present, and they ought to know.

The first letter is from a lady, who wrote for information to this writer, who in turn sent her letter to an authority, and got a reasonable account of the relation of her family to early days here. The latter letter being sent to her—regarding which she replies:

"Central Point, Ore.
April 10, 1916.

Mr. Ensley Moore.

I received both your letter and card and am very grateful to you for the interest you have taken in the McConnell clan. I forgot to mention that I have always lived in Morgan county and still consider it my home. I was graduated from the Jacksonville High school and taught in Morgan county for a number of years. I am sure I've heard you speak to the High school students. It seems to me you spoke to us on Washington's birthday, 1902. I'd know you, I think, if I were to see you even out here in Oregon.

I've been in Southern Oregon a little over a year. I am not very far from the California line. I haunted the Illinois building at the Exposition last summer, hoping I'd see a familiar face from Morgan county.

is correct in his statement that the McConnells lived on the Beardstown road. The Stansfield Baldwin place is a part of the old McConnell place. A daughter of John McConnell, Mrs. Nancy Wilson kept the first Poor Farm there years ago. John R. McConnell and Samuel Willis McConnell both came to California in 1849. John R. McConnell became a well known mining lawyer. He is eulogized very highly in the record of him in the State House, Sacramento, California.

Our McConnell papers are now in the hands of Dr. G. M. Braumbaugh, Washington, D. C. Mr. Cannon has been more than kind in helping us find out things.

When I saw your "Old Jacksonville" in the Journal it occurred to me you might be able to help us. If we could just find a paper of that date, John McConnell's obituary would more than likely be in it. He died March 6, 1834.

I shall send you some sketches of John R. McConnell as soon as we get everything finished up. I find this delving into the past a very interesting study. The western people laugh at me for digging into the past.

Yours respectfully,

Elizabeth Simpson.

The county seat of Jackson county, Ore., is Jacksonville. It is an old mining town, now very much dilapidated.

These McConnells were settlers here in the earliest days, but one died, and some moved away, altho Miss Simpson seems to have lived here until lately.

They are not related to the Murray McConnell family.

After reading the accounts of the Hardins lately a gentleman, formerly well known and prominent here, wrote in the following appreciative words, telling somewhat of his remembrances of the obsequies:

"April 15, 1916.

My dear Moore:

You know that I appreciate greatly your "Old Jacksonville," but I want to say especially how deeply I have been interested in your narrative of the return of the 1st Ill. Infantry from Mexico. I saw it all, was in the midst of it in fact, having started with my father to meet them in St. Louis, but was anticipated by their arrival at Mercedos before we could get away on a boat for St. Louis. So we drove furiously from Naples to Jacksonville after we saw the boat at Naples in early morning, spread the news in Jacksonville about noon and later joined the slow moving wagon line coming from Mercedos at about what was known as Sargent's, and drove in the long procession from there into town. For that one day I had buggering enough to satiate even my boy's appetite. I do not mean that my memory holds all the particulars of that time, but many parts of it live and glow in my memory as vividly as if but an hour ago. I want to thank you again and again for so brightly re-illuminating my 'long, long ago.'

Faithfully yours,

Wednesday's mail brought the subjoined kind and interesting letter from another well known native of original Morgan:

"Lake Charles, La., April 17, 1916.

Dear Mr. Moore.

I, too, was present at the funeral of Col. Hardin, that July day, in 1847, and just at the right age (12 years) to take it all in, that is, all of the spectacular.

I well remember many of the incidents related in "Old Jacksonville" of the 12th Inst. One especially, that "riderless horse," led by the colored groom, and many others, the recollection of which have become quite shadowy.

But I can not recall to mind seeing Mr. Benj. R. Upham and Mr. Abram R. Gregory there—may be they were.

I read the "Old Jacksonville papers" with a great deal of interest, hope they will continue.

Yours very truly,
William Epler."

Each of these letters adds its items of interest regarding the long ago, and is too valuable not to be given to the public.

A feature in very many of the trails of old settlers is what becomes of their descendants. These letters cover the point in part. The writers were the hundreds or thousands of miles apart but they come back in love and recollection to Old Jacksonville.

ready for the world. Perrigo claims that he could sell out his invention to the great power companies for millions, but he says they would simply buy the invention and shelve it and he wants the people at large to have the benefit of his work. At any rate it is an interesting story and the public will await with interest the announcement of the final test.

INVENTOR SAYS HE WILL REVOLUTIONIZE ELECTRICAL WORLD

Device Newly Perfected Will Take Electricity From The Air

Kansas City papers tell the story of an invention which if perfected will completely revolutionize the world of electrical energy. For more than four years Harry Perrigo, of Kansas City, has been at work on a device which he believes will entirely change the power industry of the world and he is daily risking his life in the effort to perfect the discovery. His plans to draw electricity out of the air by means of an accumulator. He explains it by saying that by twisting coils in a certain way and connecting them that the high frequency current is taken from the air, after which it is reduced down and then "stopped up." After that it can be put to work in the same manner as electricity which is produced in the ordinary way. The device is only about a foot square and the cost will be comparatively small.

Mr. Perrigo's experiments in the main have been carried on in a shop in the back yard of his home. There he has coils, lights and the various contrivances necessary for the work he is doing. Two mechanics are in his employ, and since last July he has devoted his entire time to the work. Severe shocks come to him when he is testing the power and he has a physician with him when each test is made in order to give medical aid if that be necessary. The inventor while at work stands on a marble slab covered with warm paper, his feet are encased in rubber shoes, and he wears rubber gloves. Yet despite these means of protection the volts get to him. From somewhere out of the air he draws enough electricity to make him unconscious. He claims, however, that the testing time of the work is nearly over and that only some minor details are left until the device is Sealed bids will be received at the city clerk's office in the city hall up to 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, May 1 for the laying of a six inch water main on East Independence avenue to Myrtle street and on Hooker street from Independence avenue to Lafayette avenue. The bids must be for the excavating of a trench four feet in depth, the laying of the main and the refilling of the trench. The city furnishes all of the material. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

CURIOUS PEOPLE

"A woman is a strange animal," said Twister. "Having nothing else to do, Jane Elizabeth, I watched you after you received a letter from the postman fifteen minutes ago."

"A man, receiving a letter from the postman, would glance at the address and perhaps at the postmark, and would then proceed to open it, and learn the contents. That is the action of a reasoning being. But you took your letter, in a dazed sort of way, as tho there were something miraculous in the receipt of a letter."

"You studied the address for five minutes, as tho trying to determine, from the character of the handwriting, whether the sender wore side whiskers or had ingrowing feet. I could tell by the expression of your face that you were puzzled to death, vainly trying to figure out who in Jericho could have written you a letter. The idea of opening it, to find out, didn't occur to you for ten minutes. You turned the missive over and over, and held it up to the light, and smelled it, and muttered a few incantations over it. Finally you did what a man would have done in the first place. You opened it and read it. All women act in this feeble-minded way when they receive letters, and yet they claim equality with man, and demand the vote and all other privileges."

"The insane conduct of a man often causes a woman to wonder whether he is governed by reason or instinct," said Mrs. Twister.

"At twelve o'clock I stepped to the front porch, and informed you that your dinner was on the table. It was a good dinner, too, with several of your favorite dishes. You were talking about the war with Mr. Mackeral, and you nodded your head, and said you would be right in, and then went on talking about the recent operations near Verdun."

"A woman, upon being notified that a good meal was ready for her, would drop all idle and frivolous things, and proceed to the table, and that is the only sane thing to do."

"At ten minutes after twelve I went out again, and told you that the dinner would be unfit to eat unless you came in at once. You were explaining, at that moment, that Joffre, as a warrior, is greatly overestimated, and you looked annoyed when I interrupted you. You said you would be in, in three shakes of a cow's tail, or something to that effect, and went on pointing out that Joffre should have driven the Germans out of France long ago."

"It was half past twelve when finally you appeared in the dining room, and then all the dishes were cold; yet you claim intellectual equality with woman, and want the exclusive right to the vote."

REGARDING THE JOURNAL

Many of the older people know Jas. B. Maury, generally called "Burt." He has something to say regarding the history of the Journal published last week. The statement, in that referred to by Mr. Maury was only this: "So far as recalled, David M. Swales is the only attaché of the Journal in 1866 who is now living." But the "old print" shall have his say.

Jacksonville, Ill., 11-14-16.
Mr. E. Moore,
Dear Sir:

I see in your write up of the Daily Journal that David Swales is the only attaché of the paper now living. Still alive.

I am still alive and hale and hearty at the age of 70 years. My brother, G. S. (Dick) was the roller boy (Devil as called by printers) on the first daily published and I was the carrier boy and delivered the paper to the subscribers over the city. I was also employed and worked under the following: H. Barden, Ironmonger and Mendenhall, G. P. Smith Chapin & Glover, H. R. Hobart, M. F. Simmons and C. M. Eames as a compositor. Have worked in the news room and job room.

Both my brother and myself are alive and hale and hearty. In 1851 I enlisted in Co. B-135th Ill. Vol. Inf., as a private and my occupation was given as a printer by trade. My first employment was with Mr. Edward Prover on a paper published on East State street. I do not remember the date nor the name of the paper, and have worked on all newspapers published since that time up to the year 1900, when I retired. You probably have the date and name of Mr. Prover's paper in your collection.

My brother, G. S. (Dick) now resides in Bloomington, Ill. According to dates I am the oldest printer in the city as to length of service.

Yours respectfully,
J. B. Maury.
233 North Main street,
Jacksonville, Illinois.
I was employed in the Journal when Mr. Loomis went up into the air, or I should say balloon. Trover's paper was the "Dispatch" 1861-62.

One name omitted by accident of memory in the Journal story was that of T. W. Beadle.

Mr. Beadle served in the business department efficiently and well for about eight years, and the writer did not intentionally overlook him at all.

Ensley Moore.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podoophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santal Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santal Remedies Co. 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

TAKE "CASCARETS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best for Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.—Adv.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE KU KLUX KLAN BY A RELATIVE OF THEIRS

Since some people have either thru prejudice or misinformation denounced the play, "The Birth of a Nation", most emphatically, branding it as a lie, I wish to call attention in less emphatic terms, to a few authenticated facts.

Being a grand-niece of one of the chief promoters of the Ku Klux Klan, the writer is possessed of information which emanated direct from a reliable source.

Despite declarations to the contrary, the order was promoted and participated in by old illustrious families of the South. Many of these men were Christian gentlemen and not infrequently were the Klan meetings opened with prayer. One of the promoters of the Ku Klux Klan, intimately known to the writer, as were others, was thruout his life known as a christian of the highest type of integrity. He was a founder in Sunday School work as well as a power in the order which was organized for the protection of Southern home life.

When the negroes were armed against and placed in power over the people who had so recently been their masters, the Ku Klux Klan became the only solution to the problem of re-establishing white supremacy and protecting home sanctity.

There were a few adherents to the cause who misused their power. The alleged scum element involved, was the exception, not the rule. This same element creeps into everything of import, at some time, but because it formed a part of the Klan does not make it fair to characterize the composite Klan as such in its entirety. Old Southern families could be designated, and readily recognizable to those well informed in the history of the south, the mention of whose names are a refutation of statements recently voiced against the Ku Klux Klan.

Slavery was wrong. The war, caused by it, was a painful wound inflicted upon North and South alike. A wound which has been slow to heal because of a few who have kept up a deplorable irritation.

These few, who fought, yet in the fighting lost sight of the principles involved.

They of the North who are familiar with Southern racial conditions, sincerely are glad with the South, that the actual conditions of the re-construction period, have been spread in photographic splendor on the moving-picture screen. For the thousands who refused to listen to the voice of the South as she endeavored to tell her side of the story, the millions sit eagerly looking at the picturization of the tragedies of the re-construction period. "Seeing is believing" and carries a greater force than mere speech.

"The Birth of a Nation", in rehearsing the facts before the millions of spectators is bringing a tremendously sympathetic understanding into the hearts of the North for those brothers of the South whom they once fought so fiercely and condemned so vigorously. Of course there are a few exceptions, which make it all the more interesting.

The few untrue points attendant upon the play, are as widely advertised as are the facts upon which the play is based. The author sincerely endeavors to be just to both factions, and virtually succeeds.

Slavery held its pathos, yet the period when the Ku Klux Klan became a necessity, was practically all tragedy, especially for the white people. It marked the period of the Preservation of Race Purity upon which they hoped to rebuild the South which had been reduced to a field of gory devastation.

The Birth of the Nation represents the means whereby the world shall be brought to face facts which history failed to record; whereby the most trying and bitter outcome of the entirely deplorable war shall be shown in all its truth. A most commendable means for righting a misunderstanding too long left in unexplained darkness.

We all know what war is said to be, and The Birth of the Nation shows in all its intensity the deplorable conditions of the Reconstruction period.

In defense of the author of the Clansman. They who know the life of effort of Thomas Dixon, applaud rather than denounce his turning from the pulpit to the literary field of endeavor. The productions of his pen reach millions, whereas, his pulpit utterances reached only thousands. "The pen is mightier than the sword," and the products of his pen shall accomplish more than his pulpit oratory. He has made his best investment for the Master of the Vineyard. If each one utilizes talents as well as has Thomas Dixon, the God of both North and South shall not turn us down.

Right here in Illinois it has not been so very long since there were race riots, the cause being trivial as compared to the peril which the South faced, as pictured so vividly in The Birth of The Nation. Each race must work out its own salvation and race purity is the key which opens the door to ultimate success.

The inspiration which fired the souls of the organizers of the Ku Klux Klan is present in the souls of every man possessed of a reverence for womanhood. We of the South, believe you of the North would have employed similar means for the protection of the sanctity of your homes. If we thought otherwise, we would not found homes with you as we do, and have done, even so far back as when the war was waging.

The horrors of Andersonville and Libby prisons were no greater than the terrors confronting the South during the period of reconstruction. Let this fact sink into the hearts of those heroes who endured the agonies of those prisons and they shall become less bitter in denouncing the South. Surely the latter was retribution of the former, for every joy or sorrow has its counterpart sometime, somewhere.

Some of the acts perpetrated by the ex-slaves consisted of invasion of the homes of white people. The negro women in some sections organized in groups and pillaged the homes, hurling insults into the faces of they who had tenderly cared for them all their lives—the white woman. The negro men endeavored to dispose of the white men and promote their chief ambition of subjugating him and establishing themselves as heads of the homes of white women. Few indeed among the ex-slaves grasped the political principles involved during this crisis. No real man will stand by and see the womanhood of his race desecrated.

These statements are facts; yet no statement from any one faction can contain the entire truth. Because some darkies were of this type, does not brand the composite race as such far from it.

There were many tender attachments between masters and slaves which the war could not terminate. Some of my earliest recollections are of tales heard from the lips of "old black mammys" who kept in close touch with their ex-masters during the years following the war. Many times have I heard from just such lips, the declaration: "Massa Lincoln wuz a'rite, but dese young niggahs is ob de debil."

The untimely death of Lincoln was felt with deep regret in the hearts of both North and South. The writer's home was in the hot-bed of the rebellion, yet thruout her life never did she hear a rebel soldier denounce the martyred Lincoln. While they differed in principle with him, they knew his heart contained the love of the same God whom they worshipped. The "impulsive South" has long been knocking upon the door of justice. While her rights of long ago were the wrongs of others, just so, were the wrongs of others her rights.

Lincoln tried to be just to both North and South, yet there was a political power his sense of justice could not override.

The people were under his direction, but he could not force his followers to obey the voice of his conscience. Both North and South equally erred and largely because both factions contained the same deplorable element which endeavors to contaminate every cause promoted for rectification of wrongs.

With practically every means of sustenance removed, the South rallied against the impending danger as best she could. Almost devoid of munitions, wealth gone, homes devastated by war, she rallied for the protection of her homes in the only effective way open to her. And the best blood of the South led in the cause.

At that period of development of the negro race, they were unable to think for their own good. The progress of civilization is slow, and they were as such things go, still in an unknown country.

While some, paint pictures only of the tragedies, others endeavor to show the world the silver linings to those dark clouds. For every cruel and unjust master, there were thousands of christian men who daily assembled their slaves around the family altar for divine worship. These tender memories live forever in the minds of both.

Slavery is wrong, and because of this fact, freedom is ever the ultimate outcome.

The possibility of perfecting a great people lies within the Negro race, but the answer to the solution of the problem is within the race itself.

The Creator of the Universe taught us the lesson of segregation by placing the races on different continents.

Such men as Booker T. Washington, realized the necessity of Race Purity as a foundation to ultimate success and power.

We must study the Divine laws underlying all nature if we would judge fairly and keep ever in the right track.

Save Your Hair! Make It Thick,
Wavy and Beautiful—
Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength, and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—noy—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—now hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

SPECIAL STOCKS SUFFER GENERAL AND SEVERE REVERSALS

Impartial Observers Are of the Opinion That Market Furnishes Striking Proof of Its Inherent Strength in the Face of Highly Disconcerting Conditions.

New York, April 19.—Altho special stocks suffered general and severe reversals, impartial observers were of the opinion that today's market furnished striking proof of its inherent strength in the face of highly disconcerting conditions. President Wilson's decision to submit the question of a continuance of the country's diplomatic relations with Germany to congress came as a great surprise, which was indicated in the weak tone of the opening and final hours.

During the intermediate stage and long before the president's address had gained general circulation, the market evinced a disposition to restore some of its early impairment. Total sales amounted to 735,000 shares, of which fully two-thirds represented the munitions and affiliated equipment, industrial and petroleum stocks.

The day's operations included to a greater extent than any recent session offerings from out of town speculators.

Appended are some of the more extreme recessions of the day:

Bethlehem Steel, 2 1/2 to 4 1/2%; Baldwin Locomotive, 7 to 8 1/2%; Studebaker, 6 1/2 to 13 1/2; Crucible Steel, 4 1/2 to 8 1/2; and United States Industrial Alcohol, 4 1/2 to 14 1/2.

United States Steel was heaviest of the investment industrials, losing 1 1/2 to 8 1/2. Rail averaged minor losses, but were more freely offered.

RALLIES FOLLOW DELIVERY OF WILSON'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Market Closes Nervous 1 1/2 Cents Net Lower—Other Leading Staples Finish at Net Losses.

Chicago, April 19.—Wheat prices underwent material setbacks today as a result of greatly increased chances that relations would be severed between Germany and the United States. To some extent, however, rallies followed the actual delivery of the president's message to congress. The market closed nervous 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 @ 1 1/2c net lower, with May at $1.13 and July at $1.12 1/2. Other leading staples, too, all finished at losses for the day—corn 1/2 to 3/4 @ 1/2c; oats 1/2 to 3/4 @ 1/2c and provisions 2 1/2 to 15c.

Late rallies which to some extent overcame the sharp decline in the value of wheat were ascribed largely to buying on the part of shorts who were in a position to take profits. On the other hand, upturns were checked by the absence of any important export business and by gossip of inadequacy of vessel tonnage owing to the activity of submarines.

Corn sagged with wheat. Reports of increased country offerings had some barish influence. Provisions weakened under heavy selling of lard and ribs by houses supposed to be connected with German interests. One of the leading Chicago packers was the largest buyer on the decline.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulitified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Old Folks Saved From Suffering

Mrs. Mary A. Dean, Taunton, Mass., in her 87th year, says: "I thought I was beyond the reach of medicine, but Foley Kidney Pills have proven most beneficial in my case."

Mr. Sam A. Hoover, High Point, N. C., writes: "My kidney trouble was worse at night and I had to get up from five to seven times. Now I do not have to get up at night, and consider myself in a truly normal condition, which I attribute to Foley Kidney Pills, as I have taken nothing else."

Mrs. M. A. Bridges, Robinson, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney ailments for two years. I commenced taking Foley Kidney Pills ten months ago, and though I am 61 years of age, I feel like a 16-year-old girl." Foley Kidney Pills are a tonic, strengthening and up-building, and restore normal action to the kidneys and to a disordered and painful bladder. They act quickly and contain no dangerous or harmful drugs.

E. E. CALDWELL REPUBLICAN ELECTOR FOR THIS DISTRICT

Havana Man Named at Convention Held Wednesday — Dr. Glenn Strong for Party Harmony.

Republicans of the twentieth congressional district met at the Dunlap house at noon Wednesday, when E. E. Caldwell of Havana was named presidential elector. Dr. J. A. Glenn of Ashland was the chairman of the meeting and the secretary was F. L. Gregory. While the meeting was somewhat routine in character, being held simply in accordance with the primary law, it served as an opportunity for politicians of the district to get together. There was really more interest in the conference and discussion held before the formal session than in the session itself. Mr. Caldwell was nominated by Andrew Russell and a resolution recommending Mr. Caldwell to the state convention as presidential elector was offered by Ray Anderson of Pittsfield. The resolution provides that in case Mr. Caldwell is not able to serve, that the state committee will have authority to fill the vacancy.

V. L. Dodge of Jersey county was nominated for the position by T. S. Chapman of Jerseyville and when the roll was called received the three votes of Jersey county and one-half the votes of Pike county. Before the announcement of the roll call had been given Mr. Chapman made a motion that the election of Mr. Caldwell be declared unanimous. The counties were accorded the following representation in accordance with the vote cast in the last election: Brown, 3; Cass, 5; Mason, 5; Morgan, 10; Menard, 4; Jersey, 3; Pike, 7; Scott, 3; Greene and Calhoun were not represented.

Dr. Glenn a Loyal Republican. The meeting was called to order at 12:30 by Dr. Glenn, and on motion of Andrew Russell, Dr. Glenn was elected the permanent chairman. In assuming his duties Dr. Glenn spoke briefly as follows:

"We are here today in accordance with the provisions of the primary law to choose a presidential elector. Harmony should mark our proceedings today and all thru the campaign. In the past Republicans have been able to win their campaigns when they have presented an undivided front. You all remember the hard times of 1892, when corn sold for 14 and 15c bushel, oats at 5 and 6c, hogs at $2.50 and a $200 horse was hard to sell at $50, and those hard times came because of a split in the Republican party. Four years ago we had another split, partially due to the unfair action of our national committee, and a split party came again and gave victory to Democracy."

"The war in Europe has been the only reason why prices have not been depressed. What we all want to do now and in the coming campaign is to keep together and no matter how much we may disagree before the nominations are made, afterward differences must disappear and personal preference must be forgotten in the desire for party success. I am a Republican and for the party before I am for any man, and we must set the interests of the party above the interests of candidates."

Among men here for the convention were: Jersey county—M. S. Chapman, Thomas Cummings. Pike county—Ray N. Anderson, G. E. Stauffer, G. S. Hammit, A. R. Lake, John Boinfield. Scott county—M. Rolf, A. C. Klinegar, W. H. Green.

Mason county—W. E. Stone, E. E. Caldwell, Carl Taylor, Frank Brooks, F. A. Herring, Warren Mitty.

Menard county—S. O. Savage, Homer Tice, W. H. Houghton, E. H. Golden, G. E. Nelson.

Cass county—E. E. Nicholson, J. L. Springer, W. H. Shafer.

PASSAVANT HOSPITAL NEW BUILDING PLANS.

In accordance with the campaign for a new building for Passavant hospital the executive committee has decided to take steps to secure plans for the best building practicable under the circumstances. The intention is to visit other places which have hospitals new and up to date and something within the figures contemplated for the anticipated structure.

Every possible effort will be made to get the very best and latest improved plans and specifications and so secure an outline of what is intended and hoped for. The desire is to place before the people some thing specific and tangible so that they may see what is contemplated and how the money contributed is expected to be expended.

MAXWELL MAN TO TOUR ORIENT.

Walter T. Longwell, special representative of the Maxwell Motor Co. of Detroit, will sail for the Orient April 22nd. Mr. Longwell's itinerary includes Japan, China, Java, Sumatra, India and Ceylon. He expects to cover these countries by February, 1917. Should the war be ended by that time, he will proceed thru Egypt thence to Italy, France and England, returning to the United States about April 1, 1917.

QUESTION ABOUT ETERNAL LIFE FURNISHED PASTOR'S THEME

Rev. W. E. Spoon's at Northminster Talked Last Night About Greatest Prayer Meeting Ever Held—Important Service Planned For Sunday—Thirty Babies To Be Baptized.

Another large audience was present last night at Northminster church and the interest in the special services has increased from the first. The meetings are especially preparatory to the services of Easter. Already about fifty persons have expressed their desire to unite with the church Easter morning. There will be an unusual sight, too, at that service, as about thirty babies are to be baptized by the pastor.

Rev. W. T. Spoon took for his subject last night, "The Largest Prayer Meeting," or "What will you do in Eternity?" He said in part:

All will stand before, not behind, the judgment seat of Christ. Stand unaided, nothing to lean against. Such as our petty notions, pet beliefs, theories, church creeds, our money, reputation, secret society obligations, our translation of the Scriptures. All these props will be gone.

"Every knee shall bow." This is going to be the largest prayer meeting ever attended; all the people of the earth will be there. If you never bowed in a prayer meeting, you will in this one.

The tongue that so many have used to gossip with, used in the defamation of others' character will now be turned into confession that they were nothing but busybodies, meddling in others' business. One old gossip in a town or in the church can make great havoc among the people. If God had full control of every church member's tongue, what peace and harmony would exist everywhere where there may be diversity of opinion.

Yes, every tongue will confess that we were not as good as we thought we were when on earth. Confess that we did not honor God as much with our talents, our money, our ability, to do the things for Christ as we should have done.

Perhaps we will have to confess that we stood in the way of others becoming religious by our stubbornness, by our church prejudice, by our greed for more dollars, by our unforgiving spirit. Confess that we spent many Sabbaths in ungodly ways. Confess that much of our coming to church was more for show and display than for real heart interest and love of service.

Every One Must Give Account

Confess that we did not help to keep up the finances of the church, and even grumbled when asked to support it, as we should have done. "Every one shall give an account of himself to God." You can send some one to pay your gas bill, you can send some one to pay your grocery bill, you can get your children to run errands for you, you can arrange to have an administrator to settle up your business affairs after you are dead, but you alone will have to turn in your account to God! During the civil war, when men were drafted into the service, if they did not care to go, they could hire a man to take their place. But no one will or can take your place at the judgment seat of God.

Parents will give an account of why they did not exercise the proper authority over their children. Mothers, you are going to give an account of why you permitted your daughters to wear dresses that were a disgrace, and keep company with immoral characters. Young men and women, you are going to give an account of your actions when out in company, your language and manners are all taken into account. Husband, wife, you are going to turn an account to God why you did not permit Him to bless your home with children. Oh! will it not be awful to have to give in such accounts! But we will for the Bible says, "Every one of us shall give an account of himself to God of good or evil."

Give an account of why you did not give the conductor your ticket when he has missed us on the train. Tell us why we said the child was five when it was eight. Tell of the price we paid to be popular.

He who buys and sells on the Sabbath surely will have to give an account to God. Saloon-keepers will have to give an account to God for the throngs of young men they sent staggering to hell.

We will have to give an account of this revival. Of every song, prayer, and of every sermon.

God have mercy! I hear the angel declaring that "Time shall be no more."

The clouds are rolling together as a great scroll, graves begin to burst asunder, the multitudes are screaming. They look up and down, but there is no escape for a single soul. We are all ushered before the Judgment Seat of Christ.

The subject for the sermon this evening will be—"The Big Quarrel in Jacksonville."

KILLED BIG SNAKE.

I. M. Bunce, A. B. Opperman and Roy Branstetter while walking in Nichols park last Sunday killed a snake that measured four feet and three inches in length. The gentlemen proved the story by each other so it must be true altho no one saw the snake.

Miss Bertha Friend, a little girl who makes her home with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Friend of 906 Mathers street, will leave this morning for Chandler to make an Easter visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin. Mrs. Griffin is also a sister of Miss Friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Adkisson of Grove street returned Wednesday afternoon from a stay of several months in Roseville. Dr. Frank Hamilton, father of Mrs. Adkisson, they left much improved from a recent illness.

SOME FARM THEMES.

Some Fine Hogs.

Henry Stewart in the east part of the county recently marketed eighty about as fine hogs as one sees generally. They were nearly all blooded Duroc or Jersey Reds, about ten months old and weighed around 300 each. His main feed was tankage and corn and he sold the bunch for an even $2,000.

Andrew Harris Buys Stock. Andrew Harris has been doing a little in the way of stock lately. He bought of Henry Stewart 80 fine hogs for which he paid $25 each.

He shipped three loads of his own feeding to Buffalo and received there $10.20.

He shipped one load to Chicago and received there $9.95.

He bought of Carl West 69 calves at $10 each.

Of Fred Moeller a mixed lot of cattle, butcher stuff, averaging about 900, at $7.75.

A load of various parties mostly butcher stuff and some hogs at $7.50.

To Encourage Farm Accounting.

E. W. Rusk, county agent in Adams county, is making a special effort to have farmers keep accounts. With that in view he has sent out circular letters thru the county asking for the names of farmers who will purchase a farm account book and keep the records of work for the year. The book costs but 15c and is of a type recommended by the farm management department of Illinois university. It is believed that the keeping of the records will be of great value to the farmers themselves and to farm improvement work in general.

Hog Prospects

Hog receipts have been running comparatively light, and under a strong demand, with packers poorly stocked, prices have continued within easy striking distance of the $10 mark. It will be recalled that early last winter runs were tremendous and predictions of continuous cheap pork were common. But the crop went to market early and light in weight, and since the latter part of January prices have boomed. Nor does there appear any likelihood of a severe drop in prices in the near future. As stated, packers' supplies with the exception of lard, are light; European demand continues strong. Canada being a strong buyer for export; the country is busy, labor being well employed and wages high; beef and lamb are both high and scarce; and our reports indicate that spring pig losses have been severe in many localities. The hog market in the last six months has demonstrated one thing at least: The packers tried their hardest for several weeks to hold prices down and failed. Their ability to control prices is by no means what some think it is.—The Farmers' Review, Chicago.

J. F. BARROWS DEAD AT HOME IN PAINESVILLE, OHIO

Citizen of Jacksonville for Many Years—Partner of W. T. Brown.

Mrs. James I. Barrows and W. T. Brown have received word of the death of J. Frank Barrows of Painesville, Ohio. Mr. Barrows was the son of Barnabas Barrows, one of the most highly respected citizens of Morgan county. Mr. Barrows was first established in business in this place in 1875 when and W. T. Brown formed a partnership in the musical instrument business. At the end of three and a half years the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Barrows went to Lincoln where he remained two years and then returned to this city and in company with Mr. Chatterton of Springfield opened a piano store. The first venture was in conservatory block and the last in the building now occupied by W. T. Brown, J. P. Brown and Harry Hoffmann.

About 1887 the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Barrows went to Saginaw, Michigan, where he remained till fifteen years ago when he went to Painesville, Ohio, and continued in the music trade.

His wife was Miss Gertrude Wyman, sister of C. F. Wyman, at one time in the china business in this city. He was the last of six brothers, Charles of Ipava, the last one to pass away closing his eyes last December. The other brothers were James I., Edward C., William and Joseph A. He leaves four sisters, Miss Mary in this city, Mrs. Anna Brown of Nebraska and Mrs. Lucy Boehne of California and a half sister, Mrs. Julia F. Allen lives northeast of the city.

Tuesday Mr. Barrows attended to his business duties as usual and spent a pleasant evening at his home with Mrs. Barrows and their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Morley Allen, and her son, Thomas Warren Jr., of Saginaw, Mich. Late in the evening he was taken ill and passed from this life within an hour.

"Mr. Barrows was a highly respected citizen and business man in this city for the past fifteen years. He came to this city from Saginaw, Mich., establishing a successful piano business here.

"Besides leaving a host of friends and business associates by whom he will be greatly missed, he is mourned by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. T. Morley Allen, of Saginaw, Mich., a son, W. D. Barrows of Detroit, Mich., and a grandson Thomas Warren Jr., of Saginaw, Mich.

MRS. RALPH HOLLIDAY ENTERTAINS BLUFFS HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE CLUB

Interesting Program is Carried Out Tuesday Afternoon—Public Land Sale Saturday.

Bluffs, Ill., April 191.—The Household Science club met with Mrs. Ralph Holliday Tuesday afternoon with sixteen members and three visitors present. Mrs. William Hartnady read an excellent paper on "The House Fly, and its Relations to the Public Health." Discussion followed. Mrs. Holliday and Mrs. F. T. Curtis favored the meeting with a piano duet.

The round table, "Science in the Sick Room," led by Mrs. Holliday, brought out many suggestions and hints as to how the patient should be cared for. Rest, quietness and sleep are the best tonics. Doctor's orders should be obeyed to the letter. The demonstrators, Mrs. H. C. Finney, Mrs. H. C. Knoppel, Mrs. Henry Oakes and Mrs. ... Holliday, demonstrated macaroni salad with nut bread. Whipped cream and peaches were served as a desert and so arranged, the cream on the outer edge with the inverted half peach in center to resemble a poached egg. The suggestions for Easter were carried out in the entire menu. Individual cakes formed into a bird's nest containing bird's eggs were served with the mock poached egg. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George H. Vannier, in the country, May 16. This meeting will be the last regular one for the year and is to be an all day picnic and outing. Each member may invite one guest.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Beird, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, Leonard Black, Mrs. William Vannier and sister, Helen Rockwood were business visitors in Jacksonville Tuesday.

R. T. CASSELL BUYS WORFOLK BUILDING ON WEST SIDE SQUARE

Announcement of Important Realty Deal Made Wednesday—Property Adjoins Another Building Owned by Purchaser.

Announcement was made yesterday that Mrs. I. E. Worfolk had sold to Robert T. Cassell her store building, No. 8 West side square, now occupied by the Worfolk Clothing store. It was in 1865 that Lehman & Eppinger opened a clothing business in this building, and the partnership continued for a long period, when Mr. Lehman sold his interest to his partner, William Eppinger continued to run the store until 1898 when he sold to I. E. Worfolk, who has been in business there since the date mentioned. For the present at least Mr. Worfolk will occupy the building and conduct the clothing business as in past years. The purchase price paid by Mr. Cassell has not been made public. The building adjoins the property now occupied by the Cassell Cigar store.

A PROCLAMATION JACKSONVILLE BEAUTIFUL

"If your store front is dingy, paint it."

If your awning is ragged and old, get a new one.

If your walk is an eyesore to those traveling over it, repair it or have a new one.

If there are old, unsightly traps in front of your property or in your alley, move them.

If there happen to be paper or broken limbs about your street, burn them.

If in your back yard there are old, unnecessary, tumble down sheds, tear them down. The ground is too valuable and such things detract from the beauty of your home—and your city.

Clean out all barn yards and stables at once—and don't give the fly a chance to breed.

Clean out the alleys back of your business houses at once.

"Take away all ashes and rubbish from your back yard immediately. By all means, do your part to help make Jacksonville a cleaner and more beautiful city."

Adopt the motto: I will keep my own property and the street around it free of trash, and I will not permit others to throw or dump trash in the street around my property.

The week beginning April 22 is to be Cleanup Week. Paintup or Whitewash Week. Let us all, of one accord, join the Civic league, the Chamber of Commerce, and the city in this needed work.

The city dump grounds at the north end of Church street will be open all week. A man will be on the ground to show you where to dump your trash and rubbish, free of charge.

Let us get busy and get tidy and then keep tidy.

H. J. Rodgers, Mayor.

LAST SUPPER WILL BE THEME AT BAPTIST CHURCH TONIGHT

Mr. Stephens Points Out That Silence of the Deity is Often Due to Patience—Nursery Provided for Care of Children During Services.

Seven babies were cared for in the nursery Wednesday night while their mothers attended the services at First Baptist church. Any mother may leave her child there with confidence. Miss Marie Mayer is in charge of the nursery.

The topic of the sermon tonight will be "The Devil at Supper" and special music will be one of the features of the evening. Last night the choir sang, "Harvest Time is Here" and Miss Baird Duncan, the talented soloist sang quite acceptably, "O How You Will Love the Man of Galilee."

In speaking of "The Silence of God," Mr. Stephens stated that there was no record of any event or word of Christ for Wednesday of Passion Week. Christ was silent on that day so far as we are concerned and because of that fact we have selected this subject. The Bible pointed out that Christ is sometimes silent, that we might praise Him; that he is sometimes silent because he is patient. That is why judgment has not already fallen, why false religions have not been swept away, why Christ's coming has been delayed. He is patient and desires to save mankind. God is sometimes silent because his patience has been exhausted. Christ was silent before Herod. He was silent before Pilate, before the Scribes and Pharisees, but I believe that if you will come to him tonight, you will find that He is willing to take you.

Mrs. S. C. Fulmer of Indianapolis, Ind., is in the city and will make a brief talk Friday evening. It was announced at the service last night.

Have you seen the beautiful Oriental rugs, displayed by Mr. Sleyman, at the Andre & Andre store. Come this week and see them. Many art pieces are being shown and all are being sold at old prices.

McCollom, pastor of the church, is in Morrisville assisting with passion week services but will return to Murrayville in time to conduct the regular services Sunday.

SERVICES AT GRACE CHURCH TO COME TO CLOSE SUNDAY

"The Frightened Jailor's Question" Subject of Rev. E. K. Towle Last Night—Many Spiritually Dead.

The Lenten services at Grace church will close Sunday at which time those desiring to unite with the church will be given an opportunity to do so. Those who have been in attendance have been greatly helped by the inspiring messages of Evangelist Towle.

Last evening Rev. C. H. Davis, pastor of the Jacksonville circuit, offered the invocation and Mr. E. A. Hearn sang "It Pays to Serve Jesus." Mr. Towle's theme was "The Frightened Jailor's Question—What Must I Do to Be Saved." He spoke as follows:

"Beecher once said 'when men ask me, What is Salvation? I reply, Emancipation from everything that holds me down.' Emancipation from the bondage of matter. Emancipation from the animal nature. Emancipation from the low and degraded forms of affection. It is manhood in magnitude. It is God in the soul. It is a new life. If any man be in Christ he is a new creature.

"Many are spiritually dead and do not realize it. In the finer moments of thought life is the most prized thing everywhere. Life and sin are eternally opposed. That jailor was desperately in earnest. It is always worth while to be in earnest about the things of salvation. Some shy terribly at any movement in religion that hints at zeal.

"That jailor was evidently smitten with a terrible consciousness of his own sinfulness. Paul's preaching and his praying and singing in the prison had with the earth quake stirred his soul into alarm.

The jailor's question was not a lonely one. It is universal. It will not down. We can not run away from it. Talk about the burning issues of the day, none compare with this.

The devil is always changing the issue. He tries to drive us to be asking what must I do to get into business, to get into society, to have a good time? But there will come one hour in all our lives when every one of these things will dwindle into insignificance.

"What did Paul tell the jailor to do? Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house.

Do not try to justify yourself and as long as you do, you do not appeal to God's mercy. By accepting Jesus Christ we escape the penalty we brought on ourselves by committing sin. If you accept Jesus you escape, if you reject him you are a lost sinner. Whoever denies this, leads you in a false way. The law stands if we turn down Jesus.

The jailor was convicted. He came trembling. It is not possible to be saved without conviction of sin.
